

Lesson 3 – Opening Bids - Very Strong Hands

2♣: This opening bid is an artificial bid telling your partner that you have 22+ points. It has nothing to do with the club suit. In fact, you could have absolutely no clubs in your hand.

2♣ is a “demand” bid, a forcing bid. Your partner MUST respond unless there is an intervening bid by opponent!

2♣ must be the first bid of the game to have this special meaning.

Responding to Partner’s Opening Bid of 2♣:

Ask a group of bridge players how they respond to a 2♣ opening bid, and you are likely to get a variety of answers, many of them codes (artificial bids). I recommend the following responses as they are relatively simple to learn: two responses only, both artificial bids (nothing to do with the suit bid).

With 3 points or more, bid 2♦ which simply means “Waiting.” You are saying, “I’m waiting for you, Partner, to further describe your hand by indicating your best suit. We should have enough points for game in a major or NT.” Both of you should keep bidding until you reach the 3 level, so you can go slow in the bidding to describe your hands. Both need to be aware that game may not be attainable in a minor suit (29 points recommended), so if you cannot feel safe in a contract of 3NT (stoppers in all 4 suits) and cannot find an 8-card fit in a major, then you may have to stop bidding at the 3 or 4 level in a minor.

Opener’s Rebid after a 2♦ “waiting” response from partner:

I recommend a bid of 2♥, 2♠, 3♣ or 3♦ to indicate 5 of a suit. Otherwise, use 2 NT to indicate a balanced hand and no 5-card suit. Responder still has a chance to show a 4-card major with the next bid at the 3 level so a fit can be found in a major if Opener has a 4-card major also. Basically, it’s the same as opening the bidding at the 1 level, except now you are starting to identify suits at the 2 level (or 3 level in a minor).

With fewer than 3 points, bid 2♥ (another artificial bid) which means a “bust” hand. Depending on how formal your bridge group is, this bid should be alerted. When Responder bids 2♥, Opener would immediately say, “Alert” and/or tap the Alert card on the table. At that point, the next opponent to bid could ask what it meant and Opener would say that it means fewer than 3 points. Opener will know that you cannot be depended on for much support. If Opener has the minimum 22 points, the hands may not be strong enough to reach game so a partscore may be the most that can be achieved. If Opener has more than 22 points, game may be there still. Much of this requires judgment. By responding 2♥, you are saying, “It’s all up to you, Partner. I don’t have much to offer.”

Very Important! If any player opened the bidding and the opponent overcalled 2♣, that bid does not have the same meaning. It is not an artificial bid. It is simply an overcall indicating a good club suit. Be alert! In order to have the meaning of a very strong hand, 2♣ must be the first opening bid for that game. Other players may have passed, but no one bid.

2 No Trump:

With 20-21 points and a balanced hand (no voids, no singletons and no more than one doubleton), open with 2NT.

Responding to a 2NT Opening Bid:

"The Easy Way" - Simplified response when not using Stayman or Jacoby:

With fewer than 4 points, pass.

With 4 or more points and a balanced hand, bid 3NT.

With 4 or more points and a 5-card major, bid the major at the 3 Level.

"StayJac" - Using Stayman and Jacoby:

Again, both players must be on high alert if using these conventions. All 3-level bids are now "codes," just as the 2-level bids were codes after a 1NT opening bid.

Responder can use Stayman and Jacoby in the same way as after a 1NT opening bid. However, Responder does not need the minimum of 8 points now to use Stayman; 5 or 6 points are enough to take the partnership to game in a major or NT.

Therefore, using StayJac, after opening 2NT, all of the 3 Level bids by partner are artificial, as follows: 3♣ means Stayman, asking for a 4-card major; 3♦ means transfer to Hearts, 3♥ means transfer to Spades.

You and your partner must be very clear on which method you are using, whether you are using these conventions or just bidding your suit.

If you have 6 cards or more in a minor, it may be better to chance a response of 3NT. If you have at least 9 points and a long minor, usually you would be able to bid to Game in a minor (5♣ or 5♦). Judgment and experience is needed when deciding between game in a minor at the 5 level or NT at the 3 level when responder has a weak, unbalanced hand. Remember, you can lose only 2 tricks to make a game contract in a minor whereas in 3NT, you need to take just 9 tricks (therefore, can lose 4 tricks), but you will get a higher score in 3NT if it is makeable. On the other hand, it's better to be in a minor suit contract and make it than to be in NT and not make it.

22+ HCP and a balanced hand:

With 22-24 HCP and a balanced hand, open 2♣ (forcing) and then rebid 2NT.

With 25-27 HCP and a balanced hand, open 2♣ (forcing) and then rebid 3NT.
